

mastermind

Tailored to your needs. And to the highest standards.

With mastermind Sedus has developed an intelligent table system that is anything but off the rack. It can be adapted to any room size or shape, and offers almost endless possibilities for customisation. Added to this are the high quality standards: in production, only selected materials are used, and in addition to this, many steps are carried out by hand. Whether for meetings and conferences or in informal working areas as a basis for well-being – mastermind is a perfect fit for you. No matter which variant and version best suits your style or your requirements: there's no need to worry about representative design.

Unique pieces in series.

Size, style, architecture: hardly any room resembles another, mastermind is simply suitable for every room. Whether table systems or single tables, with or without angles, different top shapes or custom finishes: in theory, the design possibilities with which mastermind can be tailored exactly to your needs are limitless.

In contrast to the planning effort, which thanks to the intelligent system with flexible elements is a model of clarity. Whether avant-garde or classic, luxurious or minimalist: hardly any mastermind is the same as another – yet all offer the advantages of a mature series product based on decades of experience.

One system, all options. The modular table system makes the configuration of table constellations easy and efficient. It consists of rectangular starting, extension and end elements and angular elements in 30°, 90° and 150°. With these practically all types of conference systems can be put together.

Flexible stability. The table top is supported by diagonally extending conical table legs and support beams connected by knots. The shape and size of this frame system can be customised, as the placement and length of the support beams can be adapted.

Room to move. Single tables and table systems are designed for a certain number of seats, with enough space for standard conference and visitor's chairs as well as for roomy conference swivel chairs.

Focal point of life in the office.

Working, discussing, presenting together: as a furniture item that brings people together, the table plays a very special role in modern office environments. It therefore needs to be particularly well thought out so that all who meet at it in a variety of situations feel comfortable.

mastermind has all you need to exploit the full dialogue and team potential of communication zones. Its inviting character makes it a capacity in every respect and ensures that when colleagues come together, they work together. Speaking of team building: mastermind harmonises perfectly with all types of seating furniture. For example with the loungy on spot from Sedus.

Your room, your rules.

mastermind matches your rooms. A statement that can easily be made without having previously seen your rooms. The Sedus Planning Service will gladly provide proof at your premises.

Grand. mastermind lends an air of grandeur to every conference or meeting – regardless of whether twelve, 20 or even more people are present. Arranged as a diamond or in V-configuration with a clear view for everyone: efficiency and flexibility are on the agenda in the planning phase already.

Appealing. For medium-sized conferences too, mastermind creates ideal prerequisites. Just as with team meetings, for which, for example, a boat shaped arrangement for up to ten people is suitable.

Integrate. Even in small areas, mastermind impresses as a meeting table and desk, for example in the single office for coordination within a project team.

Great feeling. High quality standards in every detail: the shaped edges meticulously made by hand are not only impressive at first glance, they also feel good to the touch. Up to nine careful steps are required to give mastermind this very special visual and tactile finish.

A specialist with the best connections.

Hardly a conference or meeting can do without modern media these days. The mastermind table system comes with all the necessary prerequisites for this, for at the design stage already care was taken to ensure that the widest variety of conferencing technology can be easily integrated. In the future too: while technical standards will change – the sophisticated design of mastermind remains.

Cable routing. The cables are routed elegantly to the floor: you can choose between a cable guide made of high quality knitted fabric and a chimney in attractive felt look.

Privacy panel. The optional privacy panels are made from high quality material and easy to attach. Discreetly grey, they inconspicuously fit into any table arrangement.

Cable management. The frame structure is optimally designed for the installation of media boxes. The cables can be stowed in fold-down cable trays that can be placed anywhere.

Stable. Turned table legs in oak or beech wood or made of stable steel tube. The powder coating in white, white aluminium or chrome is done with the latest technology worldwide in Sedus's own electroplating facility.

Discreet. Great in representative conference facilities: integrated power and data connections are hidden under veneered socket module flaps.

Here everyone can open up: Sedus mastermind fold.

The clever solution for multifunctional rooms – and for more flexibility: Sedus mastermind fold – a high-quality, representative conference table that seats up to eight people and takes up little space when it is no longer needed. Thanks to the sophisticated folding mechanism even people who are not so strong can easily set it up and stow it away again. The unique Sedus Securelock System ensures safety here because when unfolded, the table tops are automatically snapped into place even before locking.

Modest. When not in use, with a width of just 400 mm it does not need much space.

Larger. Intuitive to use, stable linking options on the front and long side quickly create large table configurations.

Mobile. Thanks to the large and smooth-running castors the folding table can be moved easily and conveniently.

Child's play. The smooth transmission and high-performance gas springs ensure particularly efficient power transmission. mastermind fold can thus be quickly and effortlessly unfolded and folded by anyone.

Protected. Important for frequent assembly and disassembly: all-around impact protection edges that protect the table, the walls and other furniture in the room.
