series[n]

The new Series[n] is a classic and stylish piece of furniture with a smart connection solution. The series' sleek lines and a table top that seems to float above the under frame create an airy impression. There is great flexibility and you can choose between using Series[n] as a freestanding piece of furniture, as conference furniture or as part of a benching solution, allowing for you to connect several tables easily and create many workplaces in a small area. In the benching version the connecting legs are placed slightly beneath the table top so the leg space extends under the whole work surface. Perfect for the modern and creative office.
